

Call for Applications 2010

2010 CENA BEN MORLEY SCHOLARSHIP

Applicants are invited to apply for 2010 CENA Ben Morley Scholarship. The scholarship is offered to support CENA members in conducting research or accessing education or development opportunities in the field of emergency preparedness and continuity management. The Ben Morley Scholarship was initiated by TUTA Healthcare Ltd and CENA in memory of the late Ben Morley. From 2009, CENA is the sole sponsor of this award. An award of up to $1000 is available annually, which may be shared among applicants.

Nomination Guidelines

- Applicants must be current financial members of CENA
- Applicants must commit to being a financial member of CENA for the two years following successful attainment of the scholarship
- The proposed research, education or development opportunity must be relevant to the field of emergency preparedness and continuity management
- Research-based applications must demonstrate scientific rigour and a paper must be submitted to the Editor-in-Chief, Australasian Journal of Emergency Nursing, for consideration for publication
- Applicants will be required to prepare a written report for submission to the CENA National Board within 2 months of the completion of the research, education or development opportunity

Selection

The selection panel will be chaired by the CENA Executive Director, or delegate, and constituted by members appointed from the CENA Emergency Preparedness and Continuity Management Working Party. The working party through the Chair will make a determination, based on the number and quality of applications, as to the appropriate allocation of the scholarship monies. The decision of the panel is final. The successful applicant/s will be notified by 27th September 2010.
